

Stichting voor Educatie-, Cultuur- en Migratie Onderzoek (SECMO)
(The Foundation for Education, Culture and Migration Research)

Stichting voor Educatie-, Cultuur- en Migratie Onderzoek (SECMO) is a foundation for education, culture and migration researches. The foundation is located in Waalre/the Netherlands.

Aims of the foundation are:

- Promoting lifelong learning by projects and researches.
- Making a difference to learners of all ages, by making researches in education, culture and migration issues.
- Developing and managing projects and researches across a wide range of aspects of education, culture and migration.
- Increasing the impact of researches on practice and policy
- Cooperating with schools, universities, adult education institutions and all the other institutions working in education, culture and migration.
- Making a difference by promoting lifelong learning, citizenship education, culture and migration studies.
- Finding workable solutions to the educational disadvantages facing migrants across the globe.
- Providing high quality, evidence-based research for policy makers, universities, schools and practitioners.
- Making needs analysis researches to find out the needs in the areas of education, culture and migration.
- Supporting disadvantaged groups (young people, women, children, migrants, etc.) by developing training programs according to their needs.
- Helping to create equal opportunity in education for all individuals.

The main activities of the foundation are organizing training events (courses, workshops, etc.), developing and managing projects in the areas of education, culture and migration, making researches, developing new approaches in education.

www.secmo.nl

The target group of the project is adults. The project aims to contribute increasing the quality of adults' life (by raising awareness of adults' about their rights as EU citizens). Therefore the aims of this project are parallel with the aims of SECMO. With the help of this project SECMO aims to contribute life of adults in the Netherlands. Many adults do not know their rights as EU citizens and this makes them not to use their real capacity as an active citizen. Actually making adults as active citizens is one of the main aims of European Programmes. With the help of this project it will be possible to inform adults about their rights as EU citizens by organizing workshops and arranging interviews with them. So, by developing and managing this project in the Netherlands, SECMO aims to help and contribute Dutch adults to be active citizens of Europe.

Website: www.secmo.nl

Contact: projects@secmo.nl

Address:

De Neerheide 12A 5581 TP – Waalre/ the Netherlands